OVERVIEW

Creative marketing professional with over 18 years of experience, specializing in project management in SaaS e-commerce, digital marketing and online experiences. My goal is to not only consistently deliver the product before deadline and on budget but also to help refine and promote an effective strategy beneath it. I enjoy working with clients that may not have a solid strategy in place, then help them to join the right content with a multifaceted management approach to ensure the project is delivered on time.

I hold a passion for all areas of e-commerce marketing, offering strategic thinking for working cross-functionally, partnering with executives, and keeping the creative process moving forward.
